Academic Integrity

Any student testing at the OAS Testing Center will abide by Emory University’s Honor Code. The Testing Center has a zero tolerance cheating policy.

Testing Center staff will be responsible for maintaining the integrity of the testing environment. At any time during an exam, if OAS Testing staff observe any misconduct the examinee will be asked to stop testing and leave the Testing Center. If there is a violation, the Testing Center will report the violator and any materials related to the violation to the faculty member and the Office of Student Conduct.

After the report has been made, the faculty member will be responsible for enforcing school policies.

OAS reserves the right to revoke a student’s testing privileges. This decision is separate from any decision made by Code of Conduct or a faculty member.

- If a student’s testing privileges are revoked, there may be an opportunity to appeal the decision on a case by case basis.
- If a student appeals, the OAS Appeal Committee will review any submission within 30 days from the date of submission.

Academic Dishonesty

Emory University’s Honor Code states that students shall refrain from behaving in a dishonest manner. Dishonesty includes acts of cheating, stealing, and plagiarism. Violations of this policy could result in disciplinary action. OAS reserves the right to determine if use of the Testing Center will be rescinded based on a violation of academic integrity at the Testing Site.
